FEDERAL MEAT INSPECTION

A STATISTICAL SUMMARY FOR 1966

CONSUMER AND MARKETING SERVICE

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

This marks the 60th year in which American consumers have been assured by the Federal meat inspection program of the wholesomeness, sanitary processing and truthful labeling of much of their meat supply. Not all meat is federally inspected--only that which is processed by plants which sell any of their production across State lines.

This vital service to the Nation was established by the Meat Inspection Act approved June 30, 1906. It is now administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service. On April 4, 1966, the Federal meat inspection program was reorganized to further strengthen the vital protection it provides consumers. General responsibility for the program within C&MS rests with the Deputy Administrator for Consumer Protection.

A Livestock Slaughter Inspection Division was formed to supervise all operations and procedures dealing with the ante mortem and post mortem inspection of animals and carcasses, and the humane slaughter program.

A Processed Meat Inspection Division supervises operations and procedures governing the continuous inspection of meat processing and the preparation of meat products, as well as the inspection of meat products for export and import.

A Technical Services Division was created to provide across-the-board technical services to the meat inspection program as well as Federal poultry inspection. It is responsible for labeling, standards, packaging, laboratories, plant facilities and equipment, Federal-State relations, and foreign review programs.

A Compliance and Evaluation Staff was organized in the office of the Deputy Administrator to review and analyze regulatory and operational procedures affecting both meat and poultry inspection.

Seven meat inspection field districts were established with various geographical circuits within each district for supervising the day-to-day activities of inspectors located in the respective packing and processing plants in each circuit.

Service Expanding—By the end of the fiscal year on June 30, 1966, Federal meat inspection was being conducted in 1,931 establishments located in 785 cities and towns. Of this number, 619 were slaughtering establishments, and 1,312 were engaged in meat processing only. This compares with 1,775 establishments in 743 cities and towns for fiscal year 1965, of which 596 were slaughtering establishments and 1,179 engaged in meat processing only.

Ante Mortem Inspection—A total of 104,999,719 animals were examined on ante mortem inspection, of which 104,829,934 were passed for slaughter.

Post Mortem Inspection—A total of 104,988,350 carcasses were inspected after slaughter, of which 104,732,889 were passed for food.

Inspection of Meat Products—Approximately 34.9 billion pounds of meat food products were prepared and processed under Federal inspection during fiscal 1966.

Detailed statistics on these and other activities are found on the following pages.

1/ "Suspected" is used to designate animals suspected of being affected with diseases or conditions that may cause condemnation in whole or part on special post-mortem inspection.

2/ For causes and additional condemnation, see Tables 2 to 6, inclusive.

3/ Horses are slaughtered and their meat handled and prepared in establishments separate and apart from those in which cattle, calves, sheep, goats, and swine are slaughtered and their meat handled and prepared.

4/ Includes 988 previously suspected animals that died in pens.
